SAFETY

20 YEARS

Voice communication is vital when it comes to teamwork. In order to issue directions, instructions and warnings, you have to make your voice heard.

That's not always easy — especially if you're wearing a mask.

SmallTalk, designed and manufactured by S.E.A., lets you speak without taking off your respirator.

The microphone in the face piece connects to a mini-loudspeaker on your belt or breast pocket.

The unit simply snaps on to the exhalation valve of your mask and can be removed without a trace.

- Available for S.E.A. full face masks and Sundstrom half and full face respirators
- Snaps on and off the mask without any modifications
- Low weight: only 146 g
- ELECTRET microphone
- Volume control
- Handy clip for belt, shoulder strap or pocket
- Flexible cable can be worn inside clothing
- Standard long-lasting 9V battery can be replaced in seconds
- Loud and clear voice communication — even inside a protective suit

Make your voice heard.
