

Created in 1983, The International Society for Respiratory Protection (ISRP) is a non-profit volunteer organisation bringing together occupational health and safety professionals in the field of respiratory protection. Members share knowledge, ideas, opinions, research findings, training programs, news..etc. through informal and formal platforms such as the ISRP website forum, at the ISRP Biannual global conference, webinars and through published articles in the ISRP journals.

All topics discussed are relevant to all industry types from health to industrial. With 341+ members worldwide, the Society is organised into 6 geographical sections; America, Europe, Greater China, Japan, Korea and Australasia.

We welcome you to join the ISRP Australasia section.

This section covers many nations including Australia, New Zealand, South Pacific, South-East Asia, Indian sub-continent and other Asian countries who wish to receive communication in English. Australasian Memberships are available for individuals and students who are engaged in respiratory protection activities. The corporate membership is for corporate bodies, private companies, or academic institutions engaged directly or indirectly in the field of respiratory protection.

Network with professionals in the field of respiratory protection

Invitation to attend the ISRP international conference

Access to current and previous full published ISRP journals

For more information visit the ISRP website or contact Australasia's section secretary via email sophie.foot@sea.com.au

ISRP Membership Benefits

	Student AUD $95.00 per annum	Individual AUD $125.00 per annum	Organisation AUD $950.00 per annum
Online access to ISRP Members online portal	✓	✓	✓
Exclusive access to full published current and past ISRP e-journals and archives since 1983	✓	✓	✓
Invitation to attend and present at the ISRP international conference held biennial at different worldwide locations	✓	✓	✓
Information on the latest updates and relevant news on respiratory protection from all ISRP sections worldwide	✓	✓	✓
Access to online seminars and webinars that promote exchange of knowledge on respiratory protection	✓	✓	✓
Education: Access to ISRP online training program on personal breathing protection	✓	✓	✓
Introduction to Respiratory Protection Standards worldwide	✓	✓	✓
Two individual memberships included			✓
Reduced advertising rates in ISRP journals			✓
Additional representatives at ISRP conferences			✓
Identification and hyperlink from the ISRP website to the members website			✓

Join today to start receiving great benefits

Visit www.isrp.com or contact Australasia's section secretary via email sophie.foot@sea.com.au for more information